RECON

LOGLINE & SYNOPSIS

LOGLINE

On the eve of a father-son fishing trip, caring but inattentive son returns to reconnect with his father who has Alzheimer's Disease, but when his father fails to recognize him, he must learn to bridge past memories to the present before the bond they once had is forever gone.

SYNOPSIS

Recon is a story about a boy, Ryan, who has spent years fishing with his father and listening to his father's war stories. Years pass and Ryan returns for a typical father-son fishing trip. He is informed by his mother that his father is in the middle stages of Alzheimer's Disease. Ryan, not understanding the consequences, brushes off the warning. The next morning while at the bait and tackle shop, Ryan's dad doesn't recognize him and his dad becomes irritated when Ryan insists that he is his son.

Ryan's father begins to hallucinate as if he were back in the war. He falls, claiming he has been shot and Ryan continues to explain the truths of the situation. When Ryan sees that he is not connecting to his dad, he begins talking military language, telling his dad that all is ok. His dad then calms down and turns to him for reassurance. In the hospital, Ryan learns his father had a heart attack, however because of the Alzheimer's his father believes it was a fall. The two sit in silence, which is broken when Ryan's dad asks him if he would like to go fishing tomorrow. Ryan agrees to go, knowing his commitment will not be fulfilled.

Director's Statement:

As a director, I strive to be a positive force for great performances. While working with actors to discover, together, emotions and experiences that promote a solid performance, I seek to develop relationships that are built on trust.

I love working with children because, for me, it is one of the most rewarding and inspiring activities of directing.

I also enjoy the challenge of developing the story through collaboration, storyboarding and working with the DP to capture the images of the concept.
